

In the last few years, the number of programmers concerned about writing structured commit messages has